A New Beginning Part I

You have walked through every imaginable situation to get to where you are now. Every event and person who has been in your life has presented you with ongoing opportunities to keep expanding your consciousness and the love that naturally abides within your heart. Many of you are beginning to accept your potential to walk the Earth as a living demonstration of all the Divine Love, Wisdom and Power that abides within your Presence. We suggest that you spend some time each day feeling into your Presence until you recognize its essence within your heart, mind and body. In 2012 may you continue to awaken and practice living as this Self you truly are.

~The Ascended Masters within the Councils of Shamballa

The Presence works through the Light and Love you have already accumulated within and around your body. When it enters into a certain percentage of your being, you may start to feel as if you are not yourself, because indeed you are not the old familiar self created out of your ego's projections. Your Presence is the part of you that is unlimited and unconfined by your past or your future and it is unconfined by any of your previously accepted identities.

Moving beyond limited identities is a major part of awakening, and for some this has not been a short-term process, yet these times are different and this year will be especially supportive of your expanding out of the old and into the new. When we say "new," we are not suggesting that you move into a new identity and adopt a new persona, as indeed there would be no point in that. The Presence is not a projection of your ego. Its consciousness is eternally one with Source, and it can only abide in you to the extent that you have prepared and surrendered all previous and present ego identities. It is also not an imagined ideal self that would only provide you with a holy ego, since the ego's main intent is to keep you in separation and limitation.

This new year is inviting you to practice living in true Oneness with each other and with all of life, which starts with being in Oneness with your own Divine Presence and allowing the continuous expansion and sharing of the Source Love and Light that is already encoded within your heart. These Source energies magnetize through their pure frequencies the abundance that is continually being offered to you by the universe. You have only to remove any resistance created by fear and to accept that you are totally worthy to receive the abundance that the universe is constantly providing.

Living in Oneness or Unity or Christ Consciousness is how everyone in your world can expand their natural attraction factor, which is ultimately a magnetic field created by the frequencies of Divine Love within your heart. When these frequencies are nourished by your willingness to expand unconditional love and compassion within all your relationships, including the one you have with the Earth, then this field creates a larger magnet and a much larger home in which your Presence may abide.

As you continue to embody more of the Unity Consciousness of your Presence, you will naturally become a part of lifting the frequencies of humanity into the 5th dimension, which contains the foundational energies for a new Golden Age. Your participation in co-creating this new Age depends on your willingness to nourish the seeds of Unity Consciousness within your heart and to envision it as the true spiritual potential that is now expanding upon your planet.

As human beings everywhere continue to awaken, they may at first feel like they are losing connection with the old world as they have known it, and in truth, they are, because the old world of limitation is receding to make room for the new. To some this may be disorienting or unsettling, yet this is an extraordinary time that was foreseen as the Time of the Great Light when there will be an awakening of consciousness that will propel humanity into truly desiring to create completely new limitless ways of living on your Earth.

Your previous age was known in India as the Kali Yuga. It was considered the darkest of ages, yet now it can be seen as having had all the necessary energies to catapult the deep passion that would eventually be needed to ignite the desires within your hearts to create a new age — an age that will be able to sustain the expanded abilities of the Divine Presence within every human being.

To move into a new dimension of consciousness, changes must take place that are coming from your heart's true desire to create a world that will nourish all of life. This will not come from being in opposition to your old systems as war only begets more war. It can only come from the collective love within the hearts of humanity since only love has the necessary strength to implement the foundations of a new beginning.
