And the Children Shall Lead Them Part I

Each generation is meant to be the leaders of the next generation. Yet children are seldom told this when they are young, and they often do not receive the loving respect and encouragement that they so deeply deserve and truly require to be a conscious part of co-creating the foundation for the next generation. The support of children begins with parents, family members, teachers and all those who want to assist children in building their awareness so they can be a vital part of co-creating the new Golden Age of Freedom—a Golden Age that is already unfolding and one that can then become the reality of your next generation!

Some of the glorious children who are presently on your Earth have never lived on your planet before or have only been on Earth a few times. They were trained on the inner planes—as were each of you before your soul’s first embodiment—to understand how to use their 3rd dimensional senses, mind and body. They were also taught that sound, color and certain geometric formations are constantly being projected out of their etheric being every time they think or speak, and that these thoughts and feelings then move into manifestation.

These etheric emanations are generally not seen or heard since it would make life on the 3rd dimension very complex for the majority of humankind. Even the new children are only seeing as much as they can assimilate while they are still learning how to coordinate their lives and their bodies using their 3rd and 4th dimensional senses. As they move into more of their multidimensionality, a great number of these “new” children will be acknowledged as geniuses, mostly in the arts and sciences. Since their pre-separation Divine DNA is often activated, their presence in the world is a major part of stimulating this potential opening in other children and adults. Because they have so little 3rd dimensional history, they are not limited by the painful programming from the past. Instead, they have the pure delight of seeing the world in its paradise emanations.

When children are young, their actions are directed by their intuitive knowingness rather than by their rational minds. Children are always delighted to remind adults how to be more spontaneous, yet instead of this being seen as a positive thing, it is often viewed as being a threat to the adult’s authority over the child. Some adults unknowingly instill fear by making the child believe that their behavior is wrong rather than simply a joyous expression of their unbridled spirit. These beliefs can then undermine the spontaneity of the child or eventually the super creative inner child of the adult.

Children brought up and taught by conscious parents and teachers are a vital link to healing the fear-based programming that has continued to perpetuate separation and duality thinking on your Earth. At the beginning of their lives, most children do not understand what it even feels like to live in fear or separation. They intuitively and instinctively know they want the freedom to simply be themselves. However, if this freedom is not connected with some basic levels of responsibility, then children turn out to be very selfish and narrow in their perspective. Responsibility can be stimulated within the hearts of children based on their “remembering” who they are and why they are here, specifically during these times of transition from the old paradigm into the new. Then they will be inspired to be responsible citizens in your world and they will want to support the highest and best in themselves and everyone else. When being oneself is understood and lived as being their Presence or God Self, then these precious children will keep expanding their ongoing mastery and create fulfilling lives of freedom and joy.

We are encouraging everyone who knows in their heart that they are here to create the foundations for living in Unity or Golden Age consciousness to become an active part of facilitating the Golden Age Children Course that has been created for parents, teachers and all those who want to present new ways of being to children, which will awaken their awareness that lasting freedom and joy springs from their natural desire to love unconditionally, and that love includes being responsible for their thoughts, feelings and actions. When children know who they are and why they are here, then they naturally become the wayshowers of the next generation.

The Golden Age Children Teachers Certification Training will be held in Maui March 22-25 ~ the only one this year!
